California Trucking Association’s Board of Directors Elects Robert Loya as its 2025 President

(SACRAMENTO)—During its 71st Annual Membership Conference last week, the California Trucking Association (CTA)’s Board of Directors elected Robert Loya, COO of TGS Trucking, as its President for 2025.

Loya has more than 30 years of experience in the trucking industry and has served as an active member of CTA, most recently as 1st vice president of the Association.

“CTA is fortunate to have Robert as our 2025 president. His passion and commitment to the Association are invaluable, and under his leadership we will continue to accomplish great things for our members,” said CTA CEO Eric Sauer.

Loya is serving as the 69th president of CTA. His decades of experience, starting at Roadway Express after graduating from the University of Southern California, later evolving into roles in drayage and port management, and now as a partner at intermodal carrier TGS Trucking, has prepared him for this important oversight role.

“I’m so grateful for this opportunity, because I will have a platform that is not afforded to many that will allow me to advocate for all truckers in the California, not just the intermodal truckers, this excites and fuels me.” said Loya.

Loya steps into the Board President role following the two-year term of Devon Ades of Apex Logistics, LLC.
